

Enchanted Items, Explanation of: Ring, Hiskakk

Area of Effect: Wearer only.

Avoidance-roll: Yes: "Mental Attack".

Charges: Permanent enchanted item.

Command word(s): Lyasian (Vosk Elf for: Dreaming).

Damage: None.

Duration: As long as wearer is asleep.

Effect time: See: "Explanation of Enchanted Item".

Explanation: Also known as the Dreaming Ring, this amazing item will, when placed on the finger, allow the wearer to walk in the world of dreams. To enter the Dream Region, the wearer of the ring must place the ring on his or her finger and go to sleep. Any encounters in the Dream Region, while the wearer is under the power of the ring, will be half real, half dream (harmless).

If the wearer becomes actually wounded in the Dream World, he or she will be wounded in the real world (though not that any other can see), and if he or she is killed in the dream world, passing will also occur in the waking world (the wearer will never awaken).

While in the dream world the wearer can travel (as if he or she was spiritual matter) into other homes and into other peoples dreams. This does not mean that the "Dream Walker" can pass through walls as if he or she was a ghost. While in the Dream World, reality and dream are mixed, visually giving the effect of seeing through a clouded glass.

While in the Dream Region, the sleeper can only awaken if a successful avoidance-roll Vs. "Mental Attack" and "Consciousness" are rolled. There can be only one attempt to succeed at this, otherwise the sleeper must be awakened by another in the waking world.

Effect time: The sleeper will enter the Dream Region (world) after he or she has spoken the "Command word", and then fallen into sound, undisturbed sleep.

Hand movement: None.

Healing: See: "Explanation of Enchanted Item".

History: The Vosk Elves created this ring as a form of communication and travel.
