Effect time: Instant. Heat damage is calculated directly after the physical damage has. Do them separately.

Explanation: The Heat Fist-blades is a formidable weapon, causing not only physical damage, as does a normal Fist-blades of its type, but searing heat damage as well (only to the area directly struck). When a wielder strikes his or her intended target, roll up the normal damage an Fist-blades of this nature would cause. After that, roll up the heat damage and add it to the damage already caused.

Note: This is not actual heat-damage caused by a surge of heat. It is unlike spells of a heat nature. This is a magical effect that causes burn damage. There is no avoidance-roll Vs. “Magic” for this, but magical immunities and resistance may negate the effects of the heat damage.
