

Trevor Andrews and I worked at Jakes Over the Top together. He was fun to work with and always daydreaming about music and art. He made it more fun to go to work, and I looked forward to his enthusiasm about my games and books each time he and I had a chance to talk.

He created this Wastelands illustration and donated it to "the cause" selflessly.

Trevor, I wish you would draw me up some more. Why you go and move away? Heh, contact me when you get the chance. You can always contact me through the site.

I wish you well in your military experiences. Be safe, and thank you for what you do.