

Encounters Header:

As you pass through the shimmering portal, you hear the distinct cackle of the Old Hag's voice echo distantly through the shimmering archway.

"If you should live to return to me, you shall gain a reward!"

Setting:

You find yourself standing within a massive cavern filled with stalactites and stalagmites which form a forest of hundreds of natural pillars before you. In the darkness beyond, obscured by the natural pillars of the cave, you anticipate . . . something . . .
